To Whom It May Concern:

Last year, my father-in-law hired Jack Granger (Granger, Thagard and Associates, Inc.) to sell his house, which had been on the market for several months. Because of Jack Granger's success with selling my father-in-law's house via auction, I decided to hire him to sell an old industrial facility located in Leeds, Alabama.

Previously, this property had been on the commercial real estate market for 5 years. During that time, we did not receive a single offer for the property while it continued to be a strain on my family's finances.

This past spring, Jack Granger encouraged us to consider the possibility of auctioning the property. Jack took the time to carefully lay out a workable game plan and then walked us through every step of the process. He maintained frequent communication with us and truly seemed to care about helping me and my family succeed in selling the property. I never doubted that he was a constant advocate for my family's interests.

While I had total confidence in Jack before the auction, I was truly amazed by the results. On July 16th our property was sold at auction. The process went as smoothly and orderly as Jack had predicted. My only regret is that I wish that we had hired Granger Thagard five years ago.

If you are considering selling any real estate you own, I strongly recommend that you contact Jack. He has the knowledge, ability, integrity and energy to successfully sell your property at auction. I would hire him in a heartbeat to sell any real estate that I have to sell in the future.

Sincerely,

Katie Kirkland
